THE WRONG MAN POULITICED.—The following story, which we do not remember to have seen in print, may be old, but it is received as true:

At a famous and fashionable watering-place, a gentleman one night was suddenly seized in bed with an excruciating pain in the stomach, which neither brandy, No. 6, nor any other remedy could remove. His wife, after trying a number of things in vain, and having exhausted all her stock of remedies, left her husband's bed side for the purpose of getting a warm application.
Guided on her return by a light which she supposed was the one just left, she softly entered, and was not a little surprised to find her patient apparently in a deep slumber.
However, thinking he might still be suffering, she gently raised the bed clothes, &c., and found the sleeping patient upon a stomach—but not the stomach of her husband, which she never touched the body of the person in the room. Alarmed, and writing under the name of the burning application, she shouted: "Halo! halo! what in the name of heaven and earth are you about there?" then, with one spring from his bed, he made for the door, and, rushing downstairs, declared, in a frenzy of excitement, that some one had poured a shovel of hot coals upon him. The woman, overcome with excitement and alarm, gave a frantic scream, which brought her husband hurriedly in from the next room to her relief. The husband was so much excited, and also so much amused with the singular mistake and the ridiculous position of his better half, that he forgot all his pains; but early next morning he, his wife and trunk left for parts unknown. The pouliticed gentleman still retains the handkerchief—a beautiful linen fabric, with the lady's name on it—which he considers of rare value.

ABOUT BEES.—One of the great natural phenomena of the bee hive is the massacre of the drones. It was one time asserted that the worker bees did not use their stings against the stingless males, but merely pushed them out to die. This idea, however, resulted from the massacre being always committed at the bottom of the hive, whither the poor drones retire in cluster in July and August, as it were of the doom impending over them. Huber discovered the truth. Six swarms were put on glass tables, beneath which the watchers placed themselves. "This contrivance," says Huber, succeeded to admiration. On the 4th of July, the workers actually massacred the males, in the whole six swarms, at the same hour, and with the same peculiarities. The glass table was covered with bees full of animation, which flew upon the drones as they came from the bottom of the hive, seized them by the antennae, the limbs, and the wing, and having dragged them about, so to speak, after quicking them, they killed them by repeated stings directed between the rings of the belly. The moment that this formidable weapon reached them, was the last of their existence—they stretched their wings and expired. At the same time, if the workers did not consider them as dead, as they appeared to be, they still stuck the stings so deep that it could hardly be withdrawn; and these bees were obliged to turn around upon themselves, with a screw like motion, before the stings could be disengaged.
Next day, we witnessed new scenes of orage.
During three hours the bees furiously destroyed the males. They had massacred all their own on the preceding day but now attacked those which, driven from the neighboring hive, had taken refuge among them. The following days no drones remained in the hives."

SILVER IN CANADA.—It is a well known fact that ever since the disappearance of American silver in the United States it has flowed into Canada in such quantities as to be regarded as a nuisance. The Canadians having stood it until their patience is exhausted are now devising means to drive it over the border into the country where it properly belongs, and at this time, is very much needed. For a long time it has been received by the Canadian Government only at a discount from four to six per cent, and then only in limited quantities, but in trade it has been at par until within a few days. The late tumbling of gold in the United States, and the consequent falling of silver, has sent up greenbacks in Canada, and in view of this the Canadians have undertaken to get rid of the great burden of American silver. The principal railroads, the Montreal Telegraph Company, the hotels, the bar rooms and the leading retail traders are generally uniting in the movement, and the result is that an American half-dollar goes for only forty eight cents, a quarter for twenty four, a dime for nine cents, and a half dime for four cents. To accommodate themselves in trade, shipmaster scrip, similar to the United States fractional currency, has been issued in large quantities, and as the American silver goes out that takes its place.
Its value, of course, is the same as gold. For the past three weeks the shipment of American silver from Montreal alone has averaged $50, 000 per day. At this rate it cannot be long before the American fractional currency is replaced by hard money.

SCRAPS.—At the celebration of Miss Susan B. Anthony's fiftieth birthday, Miss Phoebe Cary read a poem of which the following is the last stanza:—
A perfect woman, nobly planned, It gives us joy to muse on.
Take her for all in all, we'll Shall see the match of Susan.

Probably not.
A tutor of a college, lecturing to a young man on his irregular conduct, added with great pathos, "The report of your vices will bring your father's gray hairs with sorrow to the grave." "I beg your pardon, sir," replied the pupil, "my father wears a wig."

Out in Illinois, a young lady having a dose "to be taken before going to bed," sat up until she got well, so as not to take it.
